Public Hearing

Thursday, April 11, 2013 • 10:00 a.m. – 12:30 p.m. At the Community Center, Port Graham, Alaska

The Alaska Department of Transportation and Public Facilities (DOT&PF) announces the availability of the Draft Environmental Assessment (EA) for the Nanwalek and Port Graham Airport Project (#52250 and #53470).

Nanwalek and Port Graham are located at the southwestern tip of the Kenai Peninsula, approximately 25 air miles from Homer. The DOT&PF proposes to construct a new 3,300-foot runway, access roads to the communities, and associated airport facilities at a new location, approximately two and a half miles east of Nanwalek and one mile west of Port Graham. Construction is planned for 2016/2017. The Draft EA addresses the proposed action and potential economic, social, and environmental effects.

The Draft EA is available for review at the DOT&PF Central Region office, located at 4111 Aviation Avenue in Anchorage, or on the following website: www.npg.airport.com.

INDIAN CHILD WELFARE REPRESENTATIVE Jim Miller

Characteristics of Adult Children of Trauma and Addiction

Individuals growing up in a home where there was alcoholism, substance abuse, domestic violence, neglect, or other forms of abuse will likely have a long lasting impact on an individual. Usually we will wear a mask to show the world that we are "OK" even when we are far from "OK", usually we are successful at fooling ourselves. Inability to trust and have faith makes it very difficult to experience a healthy, intimate relationship. In the area of relationships we may "settle" because our sense of self makes us feel unworthy of love. Anger, guilt, shame and fear are no strangers to us, these emotions in various forms tend to govern our lives. Anxiety pushes us toward hyper-vigilance so that we are constantly looking for signs of potential danger in our environment. We lose the ability to take in care and support from others because of the inherent numbness and shutdown of trauma along with the fears of trusting and being hurt all over again. It is probably true that everyone else in the family system is hurting in some way also, and even your whole village. Without healing and change those old ways of thinking, feeling and acting will be passed on to the next generation. It should be no surprise that we have experienced overwhelming desires to self-medicate ourselves through the use of drugs, and alcohol or behavioral addictions.

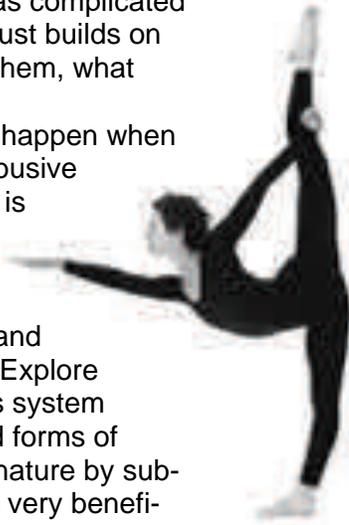

In recovery our brains that were damaged by trauma and addictions begin to heal and function in ways that we would not have comprehended. Our thinking becomes increasingly clearer and we are able to solve problems that we had thought were impossible. We develop resiliency for handling the trials, tests and tribulations that come in this life.

Relationships are not as complicated as we practice honesty in our communications, trust builds on the honesty. If you could place a dollar value on them, what would "hope" or "joy" be worth?

The good things do not just automatically happen when we stop abusing alcohol and drugs or leave an abusive environment. If we do not have the good things it is not possible to pass them on to our children and others, it is true that you cannot give away what you do not have.

Holistic self-care might include hydration and nutrition. Rest and relaxation are vital to healing. Explore ways of self-soothing and stimulating the nervous system through yoga, massage, exercise, meditation and forms of movement therapy like dance. Experiences with nature by subsistence activities, beachcombing, and hiking are very beneficial.

Beyond holistic self-care is counseling/talk therapy with other recovering folks, trained therapists, clerical counselors, sponsors, etc. Deep healing happens best in groups where there is love and acceptance, these groups may be 12 step groups, talking circles, art/crafts groups and old-fashioned home visiting.

Brain exercises are important for neuronal restructuring, try playing chess, reading, use of non-dominant hand and changing our daily routine. When you are learning something that is mentally challenging and it becomes easy, move on to something new.

Carl Jung once said "sometimes the hands can work out what the mind cannot", get involved in one of the traditional art forms, it may turn into a vocation. Talking about traumatic memories may be the very last phase of healing from them, choose your listeners well.

Healthy families make for a healthy village and a healthy village makes for a healthy family.

ANA GOVERNANCE PROJECT HAPPENINGS

ADMINISTRATION FOR NATIVE AMERICANS PROJECT COORDINATOR Daryl Kreun

April 2013 marks the halfway point for our ANA Governance Project. During the ANA verbal report given at the Annual Council Meeting in March, we mentioned the this project will continue to schedule trainings for Council Members and Council Office Staff for the remainder of Year Two with follow-up trainings into Year Three.

STRATEGIC PLANNING 2013 WITH OSIYO, COUNCIL OFFICE STAFF & COUNCIL MEMBERS

In September 2013, we will present our evaluation results on the effectiveness of trainings completed by using information from the evaluation tool that was developed by the ANA Advisory/Training Committee and Project Partner. These results would include how well the trainings were accepted and how much was learned through this process and will also have recommendations for the scheduling of trainings annually/semi-annually as part of each Council Members and Council Office Staff roles & responsibilities.

Example I; ICWA Training for newly elected officials with refresher trainings scheduled annually.

Example II; Annual/Semi-Annual "Interpersonal/Organizational Skills Assessment" for Office Staff to monitor, evaluate, and recommend relevant trainings.

Over the summer we plan to review all existing documents; Tribal Ordinances, By-Laws, and Administrative Policies & Procedures to determine what is current and relevant, and then a New Tribal operating document would be submitted based on the review of the PGVC Tribal documents for approval. This process will include Port Graham Council Members, Tribal Court Advisory/Committee, Project Partner; Chugachmiut, 3rd Party Contractor and ANA Project Coordinator. With the newly updated Tribal Documents in place and recent training in Strategic Planning completed, we hope to have a Strategic Plan in place for a Port Graham Tribal Court System by the end of Year Three, September 2014.
