Camai Paluwik,

It has been a successful year for our program! Thank you all for your participation and we look forward as we move on to year 2 and hope to have your continued support and continue to teach us our sugpiaq Language and pass on the values of our cultural ways.

We will continue to host:

Parent Trainings: Teaching parents what is taught to their children in Class at the Head Start and the K-12 School.

Saturday Camps: Seasonal activities held throughout the year, based on our subsistence way of living.

Education Committee meetings: All who are involved in the program will meet and gather information, ways to improve what we are teaching in the schools.

We ask that you and your families join us in all these activities, we value input from all. Your voice will be valued in ways we are teaching and learning.

Camai Paluwik

I am Malaniakcak (Michelle Hetrick) I was hired by the Port Graham Village Council as an ANA Language Assistant Substitute (I will substitute for Mia, in her absence during maternity leave September 14 - December 16)

I am very excited to be able to learn and speak sugt’sun!

I became interested in learning our language because my Godfather would always talk to me in sugt’sun forgetting that I didn’t know how to speak or understand. It would be great to be able to one day understand him and speak to him clearly!

Being able to work with the children and learn at the same time is going to be a great experience for all of us!

Why Do Some People Become Addicted?

For two decades, researchers have been struggling to identify the biological and environmental risk factors that can lead to addiction to alcohol and other drugs. These factors form a complex combination in which the influences combine to bring about addiction and to make its treatment challenging. But scientists know more about addiction now than they did even 10 years ago, and have learned much about how the risk factors work together.

The widely recognized risk factors include:

- Genes: Genetics play a significant role: having parents with alcoholism, for instance, makes you four times more likely than other children to become alcoholics. More than 60 percent of alcoholics have family histories of alcoholism.

- Mental illness: Many addicted people also suffer from mental health disorders, especially anxiety, depression or mood illnesses.

- Early use of drugs: The earlier a person begins to use drugs the more likely they are to progress to more serious abuse.

- Social environment: People who live, work or go to school in an environment in which the use of alcohol and other drugs is common - such as a workplace in which people see heavy drinking as an important way to bond with coworkers - are more likely to abuse drugs.

- Childhood trauma: Scientists know that abuse or neglect of children, persistent conflict in the family, sexual abuse and other traumatic childhood experiences can shape a child’s brain chemistry and subsequent vulnerability to addiction.

"The kids most likely to get addicted are the ones who also have other problems," says Dr. Mark Willenbring, who directs the Division of Treatment and Recovery Research of the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (NIAAA). Forty percent of people who start drinking before they are 15 years old develop alcoholism. Addiction is at the end of a spectrum of substance use problems; for most people, though not all, addiction arrives after other phases of drinking or drugging go uninterrupted. That's why it is so important to treat substance use problems in their earliest stages. Although genetic researchers are trying to identify the genes that confer vulnerability to alcoholism, this task is difficult because the illness is thought to be related to many different genes, each of which contributes only a portion of the vulnerability.

Stress and Addiction
Science shows that stress and addiction are so closely intertwined that to recover, people with addictions must learn new ways of coping with stress.

Co-occurring Disorders
A significant portion of people with addictions also suffer from other mental health illnesses, called co-occurring disorders. Without comprehensive treatment, people with co-occurring disorders are far less likely to recover from their addictions.

Plants were used by our ancestors to eat and they were used as medicine for various illnesses. Information about plants used in our area has been hard to find. The way to use plants is usually passed on from generation to generation. However, the western world came and brought with it grocery stores, and pharmacies. The ways of our ancestors have been set aside in favor of modern medicine and fast food. Recently there are some of us with a desire to go back to some of our ancestors’ plant practices and we, here at Port Graham Village Council, want to help everyone do just that.

The Village Council has received a grant that will enable us to place some plaques up on the Riley Meganack Board Walk on the back road. These plaques show pictures of some of the plants in that area which can be used medically.

The grant that I affectionately call “The Plant Grant” will also allow us to develop an application that will explain what some of our medicinal plants look like, when to harvest them and what to do with them once they’re collected. This application would be available online.

Because we want to have our Youth learn from our Elders, we’ve written into the grant a plan for our Youth to interview our Elders on local Plant usage. We want to document what our Elder’s remember from their past, to preserve it for the future tribal members.

We also want to plan more harvesting trips for different plants. Watch the regular places for notices on harvesting dates. The chive harvesting took place with a nice turnout. Our harvesting trips will hopefully include whole families, whenever possible, to get as many community members involved as we can.

As an incentive for the students, each of these activities do and will qualify for the iPad Mini Give Away for participation.

Any students interested in interviewing, please see Jim Miller, or myself.

These plants were used by our ancestors and they lived to a ripe old age. Let’s bring some of those practices back and hopefully the ripe old age of our ancestors will continue on with us, our children and our children’s children as well!

Plant Grant Project Coordinator
Chugachmiut, the Native tribal consortium serving the Chugach Region is recruiting for a Village Public Safety Officer (VPSO)

Location: Port Graham

Salary: DOE

Opening Date: August 29, 2012

Closing Date: Until Filled

Position Summary
Under the supervision of the EMS & Safety Program Manager, the position provides public safety services including the enforcement of local ordinances and state laws. It also requires participation in and development of public safety education, emergency response to fire, medical emergencies, and search and rescue. The VPSO will work closely with the local Village Council and the Alaska State Troopers. Position is dependent upon annual funding.

Qualifications
- State of Alaska Police Standards for VPSO
- 21 years of age or older
- US Citizen
- High school diploma or equivalent
- Must be able to pass State and Federal Background checks (with no barrier crimes)
- Must pass Medical/Psychological evaluation

Work Conditions
Chugachmiut employees strive both for excellence in the services they provide and, through our Employee Values Statement, to serve with integrity. This requires working in an environment where blame and shame are not tolerated. Instead, we use Lean Administration tools for managing processes, and Baldrige quality criteria for measurement of effectiveness. Effective communication is essential in a Lean/Baldrige workplace and employees must learn how to share problems with fellow employees with a purpose of solving them.

Chugachmiut offers a smoke, drug, and alcohol free work environment. Work hours are Monday to Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. with an hour for lunch, to include a 37.5 hour work week. Incumbent must be willing and able to travel in small aircraft occasionally throughout the Chugachmiut service area.

Application
Please download an application here: [http://chugachmiut.org/ Employment/employment.html](http://chugachmiut.org/ Employment/employment.html) or call (907) 562-4155 or 1-800-478-4155.

Mail application to: Chugachmiut Human Resources, 1840 Bragaw St., Suite 110, Anchorage, AK 99508-3463 or fax to (907) 743-0644. Attach a resume if desired. Resumes without an application will not be accepted.

Chugachmiut is an EOE that practices diversity in its hiring practices with Native Preference under P.L. 93-638. Certification must accompany application to be considered for preference.
